Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

The property was most recently observed and photographed on January 15, 2003. The condition of the property appeared changed, with the addition of a wood framed and siding lean-to room and the removal of a prominent brick chimney, since the preparation of the State Historic Sites Survey Inventory Form in the library of the Maryland Historical Trust.

The property is described in the Maryland Historical Trust Inventory Form For State Historic Sites Survey, prepared by Paula Stoner, Architectural Historian, of Preservation Associates, in July, 1978. Following is a brief summary of that property description, as modified by site observations made January 15, 2003.

The property is a two part stone house consisting of a main section, two stories high and three bays wide. Adjacent to it is a two bay, one and a half story wing. Also present is a stone outbuilding and a frame board and batten kitchen with an exterior brick chimney. The interior of the house was gutted at the time of the initial report. It was observed that the house had been renovated, with the addition of a wood framed and siding lean-to room and the removal of a prominent brick chimney on the one and a half story wing. It was also observed that the outbuildings have been neglected and appear derelict.

The integrity of the property's design has been compromised by modern renovations. The property is therefore not eligible for registration under terms of Criterion C: Design/Construction, nor is the property known to be associated with an historic event, personage, or archaeological significance, making it ineligible for registration under Criteria A, B, or D, respectively.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two part stone house consists of a main section two stories high and three bays wide which was probably built during the latter part of the first quarter of the 19th century. Adjacent to it is a two bay one and a half story wing which would appear to predate the main section and to have been enlarged. The interior of the house has been gutted leaving little remaining evidence for dating. The front wall of the main section is built of roughly coursed stone with finely hewn keystones above the openings. The main entrance apparently opened into a stair hall with two rooms to its side. The wing is divided into two rooms.

Apparently its second story was added after the main portion of the house was built. Also present is a stone outbuilding and a frame board and batten kitchen with an exterior brick chimney.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This complex, now vacant is an example of Washington County's stone construction. The main part of the building probably dates from the first quarter of the 19th century, but the age of the older part of the wing which is earlier than the main section cannot be suggested from readily observable evidence. The house is said to have been in the Leshner family for a number of years.
